

PARTNER WITH YOUR SCHOOL

The level of collaboration between families and educators is an important predictor of student academic achievement. Parents and family members who establish strong, positive relationships with school staff have more opportunities to learn about the education system and become better education advocates.

Successful school-family partnerships are built on mutual respect, trust, equality, and a joint vision for student achievement. There are a number of ways you can be an active partner with your child's school:

- Start the relationship right—let school staff know you will work cooperatively with them.
- Utilize Campus Portal regularly for grades, attendance, and assignment updates.
- Ask your child regularly how he or she thinks things are going at school. If things are not going well, ask his/her opinion for improvement.
- Look for chances to help your child communicate his/her thoughts and feelings to teachers and others.
- Make sure the school has current information about you, your family, emergency contacts, and relevant medical information for your child.
- Attend meetings, parent teacher conferences and school events.
- Check in with teachers regularly, not just when there's a problem.
- Know as much as you can about public education. Learn how the school system works and stay informed about current education issues.
- Let the school know you will follow up on important issues concerning your child.
- Keep track of how your child is doing in the classroom. Follow up on reported problems.
- Respond promptly to all communications from school.

WHO DO I CONTACT IF I HAVE A CONCERN ABOUT MY CHILD'S SCHOOL?

If there is a concern, contact the school to request an opportunity to address your concerns and have a dialogue about the issue. Concerns that are not resolved at the school level may be addressed by contacting the appropriate Region for the school. A listing of the schools and their respective Region may be located via <https://ccsd.net/district/directory/resources/pdf/school-telephone-directory.pdf>.

There is also a public concern process per CCSD Policy 1213 that provides a formal investigation of the stated issue and provides the person filing the concern with a written response of that investigation. For more information call the Community Services Department at (702) 799-5830 or visit ccsd.net/community/public-concern.
